

MAY 28, 1771.

BETWIXT the 25th of April and the 4th of May, instant, from the dwelling house of Israel Jacobs, at the White Horse in Philadelphia, by a certain Henry Miller, of Bucks county,

Was Stolenly or feloniously Taken,

A clothier's screw and box; two pair of clothier's sheers; and other articles, to the value of between 25 and 30 pounds. Articles that had been delivered to the care of said Jacob's as a property authoritatively attached or executed upon, as presentment there was about to have been made or a declaration filed, at the instance of a certain plaintiff or informer against a certain offender or party of offenders, or aggressors, of the county abovesaid.

Also, since that time by one or another of the family, or of the abovesaid name of Miller, was stolenly or feloniously taken, a clothier's copper, as broken up and carried from off the tract or tenement it belonged to at Fears lest it should be executed upon; worth 15 pound or thereabouts. It has seemed, that in the one and the other of the instances, the above named Henry, or he or they as abovesaid, have acted according to the advice or in the council of a certain Joseph Hart and Henry Winecoop, of the said parts or neighbourhood.

These are to give notice to the said Henry, or more particularly to the above named Hart and Winecoop, that either in the nature of confessing judgment, or as a satisfaction to be proposed to be made towards the public, or a restitution to the aggrieved party, they propound relative to whatever might have been the matters; that thus it was proposed, were to have been letigated or judged as advisedly or reasonably to be propounded, or forthwith to return to the place, from whence they were taken, the said articles, or expect forthwith return to be prosecuted as attachment shall be made upon their persons, goods or money; or omitting to speak of forms of law, or so much as that it is to be said, according to what sort of law as felons of the sort of a cloth have reason to expect they ought to be prosecuted—

It can be explained, as it may be according to what sort of law afterwards—

JOHN INGHAM.
